NO ONE LIKES TO WATCH $1000S WALK WHEN:

A customer arrives ready to buy a specific car, yet no one is able to find it. The customer decides to look elsewhere because your staff looks unprofessional, or they just ran out of time.

A customer notices an engine error light on the dashboard during a test drive that sours trust in your vehicle's quality, and trust in your salesperson.

Another customer is on the fence and the car they want to drive has no fuel or a dead battery and you have a dead sale.

Your flooring company is performing an audit and they cannot find a car you know you still have. You pay it off only to find the car at a shop or in some obscure area.

Luckily, We Can Help With These Challenges.

Our OBD tracking solutions can automatically alert you when any vehicle battery voltage or fuel gauge drops below a level that you define. It will even tell you when the issue is resolved!

In addition, your salespeople can use a smartphone to guide them to the exact location of the car, instead of making the customer wait around… Talk about getting things done!

Most dealers have experienced lost sales due to not finding a car fast enough. A survey of dealerships shows that medium-sized dealerships can lose 2% of sales a month because they cannot find a car fast enough.

Dead batteries, engine error codes, and fuel levels can not only ruin sales but effect the overall efficiency and reputation of the dealership. Wasted time is wasted money.
